Cubometr Gallery
by Vladimir Dubosarskii and
Alexander Vinogradov

Dear Friends !

Facing you is our new project, a gallery we called Cubometr. Admittedly, last summer, we saw something like this in Chelsea, New York. We admired the artist's clever idea: he had used corrugated board to model a certain space, with abstract art painted on its walls. We conscientiously noted down the author's name so as to refer to him if need be. Of course, we have since lost this valuable note. Forgive us, our unknown American friend! (...)

We are open to cooperation with artists, curators, and various institutions. Your wildest fantasies as well as projects that could not be implemented for one reason or another can now be translated into reality at the Cubometr gallery.
